MUSEUM
ART OF
THE LOST
GENERATION
SALZBURG

Dear Museum Supporters,

Our museum is a place of remembrance and knowledge that fulfils a special task. We are the only art museum in the German-speaking area dedicated to permanent and exclusive research into the artists of the Lost Generation. We search for, preserve and research their works and stories, which were lost in Europe during National Socialism, and make them accessible to the public for the first time since then. In doing so, we are conducting pioneering research in the heart of Salzburg into a subject area that is significant throughout Europe.

Our collection conveys timeless humanitarian values such as diversity, empathy and inclusion and helps to pass these on to future generations. As a museum, we therefore fulfil our educational mission not only for art history through research into works of art, but also for society and our common future.

Our museum is financed by a non-profit foundation that uses all its resources exclusively for the operation and maintenance of the museum. We and our work are therefore dependent on external support and donations in order to secure the museum's long-term operation. We welcome anyone who would like to support us, as every contribution helps. We would be happy to inform you about the various options!
